MFA DIRECTORS 2017

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF THE ARTS | THEATRE
THE OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN II CENTER FOR THEATRE STUDIES
A MESSAGE FROM THE HEAD OF DIRECTING

I am delighted to introduce you to six talented young directors who are completing their third and final year of graduate training in stage direction in the Theatre Program at Columbia University School of the Arts. In their final year, the directors create a fully produced show in a Manhattan venue. These thesis productions represent an opportunity for you to experience their final projects at Columbia before they embark into the greater theatre world. What unites the six productions is the directors’ shared love for the theatre as a vital art form. I know that you will find their work as courageous, theatrical and necessary as I do. May I introduce you to Inés Braun, Robin A. Eriksen, Pálína Jónsdóttir, Rory McGregor, Ari Rodriguez, and Matt Trucano. I am proud of each and every one.

Anne Bogart
INÉS BRAUN

Inés Braun is a theatre and film director from Buenos Aires. Her feature film La Ronda was selected to participate in Berlin and Shanghai International Film Festivals, amongst others. She moved to New York in 2014 and since then theatre has become her home. Her directing credits include Ivanov, Eurydice, and Trial by Fire, an ensemble-devised piece about Joan of Arc and Brecht’s female collaborators. Inés is interested in staging stories about passionate women who struggle with their own ghosts and the roles society demands them to fulfill. She recently worked with Robert Woodruff and Martha Clarke.

ALKESTIS

BY EURIPIDES, TRANSLATED BY ANNE CARSON
DIRECTED BY INÉS BRAUN
FEBRUARY 15-18

In this tragic-romantic-melodramatic-satiric fairy tale, Apollo convinces the Fates to allow the condemned King Admetos to find a substitute to die in his place. No one seems willing to do it, apart from his loving wife, Alkestis. Euripides’ first extant play explores the aftermath of a king’s selfish decision and the fatal ramifications of his action.

Robin A. Eriksen’s theatre is never one thing – it’s art in combination. Raised in Norway and trained in the US, he understands theatre as a place to combine different impulses, elements and people. He has assisted some of the most esteemed directors in Norway and America, most recently Jostein Kirkeby-Garstad and Brian Kulick. Robin’s professional experience ranges from small comedic plays to large-scale musicals, always leading his actors to a style where realistic ease meets a mastered showmanship. Whether he’s approaching classical works with a contemporary eye, or exploring new works through the lens of tradition, he hopes to create theatre that transmits profound ideas through accessible entertainment.

DIRECTED BY ROBIN A. ERIKSEN
OCTOBER 19-22
Meet 13 people. All different, all the same. Each trying to grasp that slippery bar of soap called love. Assumptions are confronted by others’ realities as everyone faces the question: “How does love work?” With the backdrop of a nostalgic and dreamlike summertime day, each character ponders if their idea of love is too simple or too complex. As they search, one by one, they discover they may not know how love works at all. Do you think you do?
PÁLÍNA JÓNSDÓTTIR

Pálína Jónsdóttir is a director and performer of original, contemporary and classic theatre. Her directing credits at Columbia University include: A Dream Play, The Seven Deadly Sins and The Three Sisters. Her original works include her award-winning Völva at the National Theatre in Iceland, The Sea-Mare for HVCCA in NY and The Secret Face at HERE Arts Center. BABETTE’S FEAST

BY KAREN BLIXEN
ADAPTED AND DIRECTED BY PÁLÍNA JÓNSDÓTTIR
MARCH 8-11

Babette’s Feast is a new stage adaptation by Pálína Jónsdóttir of the eponymous story by Karen Blixen. Babette’s Feast tells the compelling story of Babette, a famous French chef in exile, who cooks an extraordinary gastronomic feast for members of a remote religious community. The narrative is the culmination of the artist’s calling to go the distance and the aspiration to inspire change in our society with the work that we do.
Macbeth clung to sanity through keeping his vicious actions on the battlefield and his home life controlled and separate. With the bloody murder of Duncan, these two worlds collide and send Macbeth and his Lady spiraling into a world of violence and terror as they desperately try to keep a hold of the crown. This iconic story is taken and used to explore our society’s troubling relationship towards violence.

Rory McGregor is a British theatre director based in New York City. He is currently the Artistic Apprentice at Roundabout Theatre, and was previously Artistic Associate at Classic Stage Company. He is also a Directing Mentor at Playwrights Horizons Theatre School. Rory has directed plays around the UK including The Greenville Ghost (Theatre503 and C Venues, Edinburgh Festival), Contrast and God of Carnage (both at the Edinburgh Festival). He most recently directed the world premiere of The Great Divide at the Finborough Theatre in London.
Ari Rodriguez is a Chilean-American director and choreographer. Rather than creating fictions for entertainment, he hopes to create realities with social consequences for audiences and performers. He began directing as an undergraduate at Brown University studying Media Theory. He has worked with Elevator Repair Service, The Wooster Group, the National Theater of Croatia in Rijeka, and assisted directors Oliver Frljić and Annie Dorsen. His own work is characterized by an interest in prophecy and magic and a highly gestural approach to storytelling.

HAIR

BY GALT MACDERMOT, GEROME RAGNI AND JAMES RADO
DIRECTED BY ARI RODRIGUEZ
MARCH 29-APRIL 1

Fifty years after the dawning of the Age of Aquarius, age is catching up with the hippie generation and their legacy. With a cast of Baby Boomers bravely depicting the days of their youths, we ask questions about the real and imaginary aspects of our American cultural memory. In a deeply relevant and bizarrely fun reimagining of Hair we ask the people who actually remember the Vietnam War and the counterculture of the sixties to reflect on an entire life lived in an ever-changing America.

CAMINO REAL
BY TENNESSEE WILLIAMS
DIRECTED BY MATT TRUCANO
JANUARY 25-28
In equal parts romance, farce, satire, and pagan ritual, Camino Real sketches a dreamscape of the lonely heart, a space for critical self-reflection and possible spiritual redemption. Tennessee’s richly textured imagery envelops the audience in a reverberating pageant of physical, emotional, and psychic landscapes which morph as in a dream: shockingly, kaleidoscopically, and inevitably. Williams warns, “The people in my play are romantics confronted by very real situations as they come to the end of the road. It is a real road.”
